

Frequently Asked Questions

How do I know what High School Connections programs I can participate in?

Students may only participate in HS Connections programs that their specific high school participates in. Students can select their high school on the High School Connections website (www.clackamas.edu/highschoolconnections) and see the programs available to them. Students are often taking classes in multiple programs each term and/or throughout the school year. However, it is important to understand that timelines, expectations and deadlines may differ from program to program, and that it is very important to know what is expected for each class that you take.

Homeschooled Students: because HS Connections program participation is based on a contracts with high schools, students must be connected to a school (public, charter or private) that participates to be eligible for any or all of the HS Connections programs.

Does Participation in High School Connections programs make me a college student?

Yes! For all of the HS Connections programs, you must be enrolled at Clackamas Community College as a student. This gives you access to all of the same benefits as a traditional CCC student. You can get a student ID card, use the library, get into sporting events and much more. Even though you may be a high school student, by participating in HS Connections, you are a college student too.

What is the difference between applying to CCC and registering?

When you fill out an application at CCC, you are applying to become a student at CCC. You should only fill out an application once, the very first time you are registering for classes. Once you have applied, you will receive a unique student email and password for your student account. If you have ever taken any community or drivers education, or participated in a CCC activity before, you most likely will already have a CCC account. Once your CCC account has been created, you will use your account information to register for your classes. Registration will need to happen term by term, depending on your participation in the HS Connections programs.

How do I know when I need to register for my classes?

For all of our HS Connections programs except High School Career Technical Education (HS CTE) and High School Plus (HSP), registration is done online within a specified time frame, but you may need to apply if you do not already have an account with CCC. It is up to students to register on time. Registration dates and instructions can be found at www.clackamas.edu/acc/register.

How much do college credits cost while I am in high school?

Advanced College Credit: $10 a credit – students on Free and Reduced Lunch qualify for a fee waiver to waive these fees (see your HS counselor if you qualify)

HS CTE, High School Plus and Expanded Options: Costs are covered by the School District/High School

How do I know what college credits I have?

Once you begin participating in any HS Connections programs and earn college credit, you start building a college transcript. This transcript lists all the college classes you have taken and the grades you have earned. As a college student, you are responsible for the grades in your college classes. Your college transcript will be with you forever. If you ever plan to transfer to another institution, you will most likely need to send your transcripts to them from CCC.

Information about how to send transcripts can be found at www.clackamas.edu/academics/academic-support/transcripts-and-duplicate-diplomas.

How will I know if the college credits I earn while in high school will transfer to another school?

Whenever a student is transferring college credit from one institution to another, it is always up to the receiving institution on how those credits will transfer and apply. Before registering for your classes, it is recommended that you reach out to your potential transfer school to see if your credits will transfer smoothly into your potential degree path.

What is the difference between ACC and Advanced Placement (AP) classes?

ACC: The ACC program is a local partnership between CCC and area high schools. The high school submits courses and instructors for approval to grant college credit. The college reviews instructor credentials to meet our hiring standards and departments review course curriculum for alignment with the college curriculum.

AP: AP is a national program run by the College Board with standardized curriculum and a standardized exam. Credit may be awarded based on the score earned on this exam. Each college and university has their own policy of how they award credit based on the AP exam scores.

Is it too late to register for a class I could have earned college credit for last year?

Unfortunately, late registration is not accepted for prior year classes. Students must register online during the dates listed on the HS Connections program website. After the registration deadline, it may be possible for students to add an ACC course through a late registration appeal process. Late registration appeal information is available in the ACC student handbook online at www.clackamas.edu/acc/register.
